CIC Conseil advises Comlink Group on its combination with Nubevia, Evolem's sovereign Cloud and Managed Services division

Founded in 2014 near Lille, Comlink is a leading telecom, network, and fibre optics expert in the French Hauts-de-France region. The group builds its expertise around two major pillars: connectivity and telecom solution integration. With 40 employees, Comlink boasts strong growth momentum and achieved a turnover of nearly €10 million in 2025.

Comlink's success relies on the combination of a backbone network spanning nearly 1,000 km of fibre optics, expertise in telecom solution integration, and an agile sales force that has demonstrated its ability to capture market share.

This acquisition fully aligns with Evolem's investment thesis, which aims to establish Nubevia as a benchmark player in sovereign cloud and managed services for SMEs and mid-sized businesses. For the Nubevia group, this merger fulfils a dual strategic objective: consolidating its footprint in the Hauts-de-France region and diversifying its business lines through the creation of a dedicated Telecom Network Business Unit, while generating significant commercial and technical synergies.

Anthony Oger, founder of Comlink, stated: "Joining forces with the Nubevia group and Evolem's financial firepower provides a genuine springboard. This alliance will allow us to fully leverage our proprietary fibre network and expertise. We will be able to offer our clients a comprehensive, sovereign solution - ranging from telecom links to cloud hosting - while maintaining the agility that drives our success."

Samuel Saucourt, Partner at Evolem, added: "This acquisition marks a decisive new milestone in the Nubevia Group's ambition. With Comlink, we are integrating strategic proprietary infrastructure and cutting-edge skills, while significantly strengthening our sales teams. This enables us to consolidate our position as a sovereign player and accelerate our growth, all while creating major synergies."

CIC Conseil acted as the exclusive adviser to Anthony Oger on this transaction.
